about

alyson maier is an artist and maker based in brooklyn, ny.

working at the intersections of arts and health, she consults on how to integrate creative practices into positive health behaviors for individuals, teams, communities, and organizations.

she uses these same practices to make timeless and often functional artwork that spans the mediums of clay, fiber, and paper.

hand crafted in brooklyn, her plant hangers, wall hangings, paintings and clay objects add warmth to any home.
